$223,000 NOW IN Y. M. C. A. FUND REDUCES COST OF COUNTY LIGHTS

Association Members Want to Raise That Amount to $225,000

The returns of the recent Y. M. C. A. campaign for the building fund are all in and the totals show that $223,000 was pledged during the ten days' campaign.

Wallace M. Alexander, president of the Board of Directors, is anxious that the total shall reach $225,000.

"I am sure that we can make this amount $225,000," said Alexander this morning. "We let everybody know that such is the case. A great number of people half-promised amounts during the campaign, but the subscriptions came in so fast that these prospects were not followed up. When it was announced that we had reached our original mark of $220,000, people naturally thought that the campaign would be closed. We have, however, learned that we would have received quite a number of subscriptions after the closing of the campaign if it were known that we could make use of them."

"Experience teaches that when a large amount of money is pledged to be paid during two years, a proportion of it will be from various causes be delinquent and we are anxious to provide against any such contingencies."

"I am sure that as soon as our friends read this they will come forward and carry out their original intention of helping this grand institution."

RESISTED POLICEMAN: LANDS IN HOSPITAL

R. S. Gray of 917 Taylor street resisted the policeman who had him to come along last evening, and when the cop tried to drag him Gray started to put up fight. The policeman whacked him across the forehead with his trusty billy and Gray dropped to the floor with blood flowing profusely from a laceration about two inches long. This subduing the refractory prisoner and he was taken to the Receiving Hospital for treatment. From there he was transferred to the city prison, where he spent the night under a charge of drunkenness and resisting an officer.

Why Many Women Suffer From Constipation

The Natural Remedy. The delicate and intricate character of the female organism makes them most susceptible to irregularity, and it is most important that each one should be kept in condition to perform her duties as a normal, mind and body functioning, is a function of the bowels. Nature therefore requires a gentle astringent. No powerful and explosive remedies which are so drastic as to damage the tender lining of the bowel, and do more harm than good, but a pure and harmless laxative, the famous HUAN LIU JANG, the famous National Laxative, is a wonderful talisman in ailing will move the bowel gently but expeditiously and in a natural manner. One bottle contains fifty doses and costs only 25c.

At all drugstores—but look out for unscrupulous druggists, who will substitute unless you ask for HUAN LIU JANG.

BREAKS DOWN AFTER TRIAL FOR HIS LIFE

Prospect of Passing Rest of Days in Prison Overcomes
Him

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.—John Wilson, 25, a San Joaquin man, was found in Judge Dunn's courtroom early this morning collapsed, his mouth in the county jail at the expense of life in prison. Tortured through the night by the trial, he had been unable to sleep, and now, at 11 o'clock in the morning, lay prostrate against the wall, hoping that his stomach story would be told, but fearing the worst as he saw the pitiful condition of his body. He had finally broken down and his condition was taken to the County hospital in a state too bad to be moved. The story told in court was that Harry Lee Wilson's mother, who was not in good health, received medical treatment through the mail, including powder and a letter from a man telling him to take them while he did not know the danger.

Through the trial, Wilson was in a nervous state, and his mind was thinking with honest fear of the number of his widowed relatives and crippled brother in Philadelphia. On the last day he lay awake, thinking the weight of the world, looking into the eyes of two trial lawyers who sat in Judge Dunn's courtroom. On the trial date, he was overcome by the thought of the death sentence in the case who were telling him of his sure conviction.

$200,000 FIRE IN KANSAS CITY

Threatened at One Time to Destroy Heart of Business
Section

KANSAS CITY, April 26.—A fire which threatened to burn down the heart of Kansas City's business district, the 10th and 11th streets, and the Bluff building, will be stopped. The plan hatched before was nine cents. There were present Supervisors, Bridge and 10th, Phillips and Chapman. The Act of God was the title of the fire. Miller and Wilson, of the 10th and 11th streets, in Bluff building, gave a general alarm. The firemen, with their hoses, so that the inundation was very slight. Two firemen obtained from the firemen, the sandbags, constitute Japanese Warships in California Waters.

The Japanese squadron of naval training cruisers is now riding at anchor in California waters, having reached San Pedro at noon yesterday in command of Admiral Ijichi. It is ten years since the Mikado's flag has been displayed on a warship in California waters. One of the interesting and historic features about the two vessels constituting the squadron is that each is a prize which the Japanese wrested from the Russians during the war, the flagship being the former Russian cruiser Bayon, recovered in the harbor of Port Arthur after its surrender by General Stoessel, and the Soya is the Russian cruiser Variaq, which was sunk in the opening naval battle of the war fought off the harbor of Chemulpo, Corea. The admiral in command of the squadron has the distinction also of having been the commander of Admiral Togo's flagship, the Nikasa, throughout the war, and handled that vessel in all of the memorable battles in which she was engaged, including that fought off the island of Tsushima, at the entrance to the sea of Japan, when the greater number of the big Baltic fleet in command of Admiral Rojestvensky was destroyed and the remainder scattered, an engagement which practically destroyed Russia as a naval power and hastened the close of the war.

The officers and cadets of the squadron will be entertained at Los Angeles and San Diego, both of which cities have been preparing for the visit of the ships. On Wednesday the latter will leave San Pedro for San Francisco bay. The squadron will subsequently visit Seattle and Victoria, B. C. Preparations have been made to give it a hearty welcome at each port, as an acknowledgment of the courtesies extended to the Atlantic battleship fleet during the stay in the waters of Japan. We cannot afford to be outdone in international courtesy.

Armenian Atrocities.

The Sultan's fortified palace, Yildiz Kiosk, has surrendered to the Constitutional army and the Sultan is now held a prisoner by it. What disposition will be made of him is uncertain. The Young Turks' military leaders are inclined to pass the political responsibilities over to the parliament at San Stefano for settlement.

Meantime, the massacre of Armenian Christians by Mohammedan fanatics in the village of Adana, which started immediately after the Sultan installed a reactionary ministry in power and proclaimed the subordination of the constitution to the Sheri laws as a result of the victory of the Constantinople garrison which he incurred, has continued without interruption, until now the horrifying announcement is made that the slain aggregate 25,000. The war vessels of the Christian powers are flocking to Alexandretta to protect the lives and property of their respective subjects, and, in the light of the disturbed condition of Turkey's domestic affairs, it may be necessary for them to intervene to restore order. The great danger lying in such a course is that it might precipitate a general religious war, the horrors and end of which no one would be able to foresee or forejudge.

Ever since Abdul Hamid ascended the Turkish throne, Armenia has been the scene of religious persecution, murder, and rapine waged by Mohammedan fanatics. The atrocities committed against the Christians of Armenia have become as conspicuous in modern history as those which made the maladministration of Bulgaria under Abdul Hamid's rule a stench and a by-word in Europe and cost him its sovereignty. In 1894, the religious outbreaks in Armenia induced the great powers of Europe to take cognizance of them and to co-operate in devising some common plan to force the Sultan to adopt vigorous measures of suppressing them and maintaining the peace within his dominions. On the 16th of May, 1895, the Russian, French and British Ambassadors presented a joint note to the Sublime Porte defining the reforms demanded by their governments in Armenia. While the proposals of reforms were accepted in principle, the reply of the Porte, with characteristic duplicity, was tantamount to a refusal to put the reforms in force. Then followed a new series of fanatical atrocities and massacres at Erzurum, Antioch, Stamboul, Trebizond, Constantinople and the Lebanon, wherein the persecuted Armenians were attacked and massacred, over 1000 being slain in the capital and over 12,000 in the Lebanon and churches were sacked. To compel the Sultan to take action at the time, the British government sent a squadron of seventeen warships to the entrance of the Dardanelles and threatened to force the Porte to attack Constantinople.

In the latter days of August, 1896, there was a renewal of Armenian massacres with the connivance of the Sultan. Five thousand Armenians were slain in Constantinople, and seven days later 2500 more were murdered at Erzurum, on the Euphrates. Intermittently these fanatical outbreaks have broken out afresh, every time with strong indications of having been incited by the Sultan. The continuance of such a monster in power has been a blot on modern civilization.

While it is to be regretted that R. M. Fitzgerald declined to accept a proffered seat in the new park board, it is gratifying to note that Mayor Mott has finally selected capable and representative business men of high character to serve as commissioners. James P. Edoff, Walter G. Manuel and W. S. Gould can be relied on to administer the park system. Oakland is creating in a worthy, public-spirited manner. Their duties will be exceptionally important, for the park system is in its formative stage, and its future will be largely impressed by the measures taken by the present board. It is assuring, therefore, that the Mayor has nominated for Park Commissioners men of proved capacity possessing the entire confidence of the community. We look for the best results from their appointment.

The ladies of Waco, Texas, have set an example that might well be emulated by other cities. Finding Waco in great need of park improvements which the city treasury was without funds to provide, they organized a tag day and collected some $3000 for municipal adornment. Thus has been inaugurated a movement that will result in beautifying the city. Waco is a city of less than 35,000 inhabitants, and the raising of $3000 by voluntary subscription to improve the parks is a creditable exhibition of public spirit. It shows what people can do if they will only try.

The news that Rockefeller has fallen sick is scarcely a surprise, as it was preceded by the announcement that the Waters-Pierce Oil Company, Standard Oil's Texas alias, had been compelled to pay the $1,800,000 fine assessed against it in the Lone Star State.

The effort to create sympathy for Brionteon Brandenberg, the literary faker now in the San Francisco city prison awaiting requisition from New York on an indictment for swindling the New York Times with an article to which he forged the signature of Grover Cleveland, is under-cover of sympathy. He is a plausible scamp with considerable talent and unlimited cheek and audacity, but he seems incapable of doing things straight. He figured in a number of disreputable escapades prior to the trick he played on the New York Times. He has been accused of blackmail, and Samuel Gompers said Brandenberg attempted to bribe him. It is characteristic of Brandenberg that he should be sliding around under an assumed name, carrying with him the kidnapped child of another man. His plaint of persecution is impudent rot, but it shows the matchless effrontery of an inveterate charlatan.

The Board of Public Works has inaugurated today a system of street sprinkling by means of which it hopes to reduce expenses to the city about $1500 per month. Hitherto the work has been done under contract. Now the city owns thirty sprinkling carts and teams, and is required to hire only ten additional from private owners. Forty sprinkling carts under contract would cost $6000 per month. With the city's plant the board figures upon cutting down the cost to $4470. More power to it in carrying out its effective and economical policies.

If Nevada's mines continue to yield the precious metals at the rate of production in April, that State will rank second, and possibly first, in the list of gold and silver producing States. The Goldfield district alone yielded nearly $2,500,000 during the month. California has thus been outstripped as a gold and silver producer by both Nevada and Colorado and the struggle for future supremacy lies now between the latter States.

It is worthy of note that during the past few months only fifteen cities of the ninety-five cities in the United States, whose bank clearings are reported weekly, have exceeded Oakland in the percentage of increase in the clearings. There can be no better proof of the status of the general business of the community in the light of such a record.

The Senate seems to be sandpapering the tariff so gently nobody will notice it or have their feelings hurt. The shaving nowhere touches the skin.

The new Mayor of Los Angeles is threatened with a "recall." This shows how the recall can be made a perennial nuisance.

SOME NOTES AND EXCERPTS

A Wilmington, Del., woman recently reached the conclusion that the attachment of a certain policeman for her cook must be investigated, lest it prove disastrous to domestic discipline. "Do you think he means business, Mary?" she asked. "I think so, m'm," said Mary. "He's begun to complain about my cooking, m'm."

There is to be seen at Pasadena, near Los Angeles, a blackbird which is the unique possessor of two almost distinct heads. It has two bills, and has been seen to make use of both. During the recent stormy weather the bird came to feed with others at a spot on the river bank where a good deal of waste bread is thrown out by the employees in a public work, through a window.

Chicago's policemen—1700 in number—have been asked by Chief Shippy to contribute 50 cents each to a fund to aid the widow of a man killed by a patrolman. The police are responding promptly to the appeal. The victim of the policeman's bullet got into range as the officer was trying to bring down a fleeing burglar. As there is no public fund from which to pay damages to the dead man's family, Chief Shippy has decided that the police ought to do what they can for the relief of the widow. His men evidently agree with him.

From Maurice Baring's "Russian Essays": "I then lay down on my bunk. Another Cossack from the other side of the cabin came out at the top of his voice to the man who was over me, 'Who is that man?' 'He is a foreigner.' 'Is he travelling with goods?' 'No, he is just travelling, nothing more.' Then, looking down at me from his bunk, the Cossack who was above me said, 'There are quite bold, little rascals. Is it illness that did it or nature?' 'Nature,' I answered. 'Shouldn't try an ointment,' he said. 'I have tried many ointments,' I said, 'including ointments, tar and paraffin, none of which were of any avail. There is nothing to be done.' 'No,' said the Cossack, 'there is nothing to be done. It is God's bushness.'"

A thin little man with a long beard and a big bundle boarded a Second Avenue car at Fifth street the other day, says the New York Sun, and when the conductor came around handed up a $1 bill and asked for a transfer to the Fourteenth-street line. The conductor handed the passenger a half dollar, a quarter and three dimes. The thin little man saw the three dimes and quickly thrust his change in his pocket. He didn't wait till the car got to Fourteenth street, but alighted at Eighth street. When he had gone a passenger said to the conductor: "You gave that man three dimes instead of two." The conductor did not smile, but said: "Did I? Well, he'll have a devil of a time getting rid of the half dollar."

The bishop of London, in a recent address, spoke of a growing tendency to keep everyone out of the sick room. He had consulted some of the leading physicians in London, he said, and they agreed that they had never traced the slightest harm to the spiritual attentions of the earnest, tactful minister. It was, said the bishop, their duty to make a protest against the sick being deprived from the comfort of spiritual ministrations. "After all," added the bishop, "it's only a certain class of doctors who are responsible for the attempt to keep out the clergy. Among the best and highest of the medical profession are most devout churchmen, and they, together with the whole church, are against shutting the door of the sick room on the clergy."

BRANDENBERG REVEALS NAME OF MAN WHO OFFERED HIM IMMUNITY ACCUSES CITY COUNCIL OF 'SELLING' LICENSE

Bartered For Political Favors, Is Accusation Made at Church Meeting

OFFICIALS "THE WORST EVER," IS STATEMENT

Money Being Raised to Take Mello Saloon Controversy into Courts

With the startling accusation that it was common rumor that a license had been granted to the Mello brothers saloon keepers in payment for their activity in the recent campaign William Muller president of the Church Temperance League created a scene at the mass meeting held in the Twenty third Avenue church East Oakland yesterday afternoon. Other remarks to the effect that the present City Council is the poorest the city of Oakland has ever had and that its tactics would warrant an investigation in the grand jury caused a sensation which has never been equalled at any church meeting ever held in Oakland.

The meeting was attended by some 300 or more residents of East Oakland and among the speakers were President Muller Dr Hart Dr T B Holmes James Rattray superintendant of the East Oakland Cotton Mills and Frank Davison.

Object to Action

The purpose of the meeting was that of voting protests against the action of the council in authorizing the transfer of the Mello brothers license Mullers in part

That this license was granted to pay a political debt is open and what occurred in the council could tend to benefit the rumors. There was no question but that the license would be granted. I am informed that three members of the council who voted against the license could have voted the other way if their support had been needed. I believe there is ample evidence to warrant an investigation by the grand jury.

Dr Hart was characterized as the grinning of the Jungs as a sign in the face.

He declared he had protested against the license for a number of years and had personally addressed the different councils.

"The Worst Ever"

We have had pretty poor representatives in the City Council, we said. We have never been able to admire our Council but this is the worst we have had but they even deny us the right of speech. They not only would not look out of our windows but they would not look out of our doors. They were ashamed of what they were about to do. I would not have known it was a Council chamber if had not seen the sign on the door. All of the work is done in the little anteroom at one side.

We are here to enter strong protest against this action of the Council to publicly censure and express our disapproval of the action of our elected Councilmen in not having been to the detriment of this district—the dumping of a saloon in our neighborhood to pay a political debt. During the campaign Cobbledekk was the loudest in assuring us that he would represent the best interests of this community. The inference which we were supposed to gain was that this saloon would not be thrown upon us Cobbledekk knew a that time that this question was going to come up. It had come up at five successive Councils and he knew what we wanted. He has deceived us.

"Elect Men We Know"

Pointing at former Councilman R G Atkin who was defeated by Constance Dick Dr Holmes said the people of East Oakland should not be as shortsighted as they had been in the past. It should elect men whom they know personally. The inference was that he was wrong. After Atkin was defeated he believed he thought he was in the minority he knew finally that he was in the majority.

At the conclusion of the meeting Dr O Hart said that he had given up his understanding of the action. Constance Cobb edick would be the signal for the transfer of the Mello Brothers license. He stated that he was opposed to the proposal to make the matter a subject of investigation by the Grand Jury.

But in this he stands alone for the entire population of the east end of the city was around and ready to work any aid to rid the neighborhood of Mello Brothers saloon.

A committee of three John Mole F M Davison and Charles Lister was appointed for the purpose of raising money with which to bring the case into the court of session and injunction to restrain the Council from permitting the saloon to open. A resolution voting strong condemnation of the Council was unanimously adopted.

DROPPED DEAD FROM SHAME AT ARREST

NEW YORK April 26—The high wind late yesterday caused Romano Domingo, a prosperous tobacco importer to accidentally spit in the face of Phillips Goo in Fifth avenue. Although Domingo apologized, Goo immediately called the police station on Domingo who was over come by the disgrace that he fell dead from instant "shame."

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS HAS THE RIGHT TO HOLD EXECUTIVE SESSION

"All of this newspaper uproar about it being the intention of the present Grand Jury to make a rigorous investigation into the occasional practice of the Board of Supervisors of holding executive sessions during its regular weekly meetings is simply a waste of words and space," said District Attorney Donahue this morning in connection with his announcement that the Porter Grand Jury would hold its first formal session next Wednesday.

"The Board of Supervisors has a perfect right under the law to go into executive session in connection with any county business that comes up if it simply considers the question and does not transact actual business behind closed doors," continued the District Attorney. "This is done by governmental bodies all over the country. The Board of Supervisors of San Francisco do it, and so do City Councils. Even State Legislatures and the Congress itself have their executive sessions."

"There are many matters which come to the attention of the supervisors wherein it is absolutely necessary that they be considered in executive session in order to guard the interests of the county. The board transacts no business at these sessions, but on the contrary disposes of all matters in open meeting."

Woman Scorned, Calls Upon the Law For Surcease From Her Fury

MRS. E. KOHL SUES LOST FIANCÉ FOR JEWELRY

Ignominious Role of "Waiting at the Church" Rouses Jilted Widow

SAN FRANCISCO April 26 Declining that neptene for her broken heart and missing diamond brooch is to be found in the coat of Mrs. Mary Kohl, a young widow who was left waiting at the church recently while her escort, Dashing Daniel Dabby Dougherty married her rival in riches and beauty Miss Helen Wells. Mrs. Kohl announced her intention of bringing suit against Dougherty to recover the jewel which she says she gave him two months ago. She is interested to make it meet at the jeweler's.

Dougherty and the widow had been engaged for some time. During the same period Dougherty was engaged to Miss Welch—but this Miss Kohl did not know.

As the wedding day drew near for his marriage to Mrs. Kohl Dougherty showed signs of restlessness. Theateful day came and the bridegroom was in some alarm. Dougherty was last seen with his bodyguard named Wishbone. Gallagher, apothecary, who he pursed up his lips and despatched him to the face of the unsuspecting newspaper man.

Now Dougherty is speedling across the continent with Miss Welch for his bride and Mrs. Kohl wants her diamond brooch.

ARRESTED FOR SLAYING THREE DAYTON GIRLS

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio April 26—The murder of three Dayton girls it is believed has been solved by the arrest of Elmer Carr in Dayton. His arrest came yesterday. Middlefield had testified that he was against him.

Mary Ferschentz's body was discovered in the rear of a house in North Dayton. The body of a lady, Mrs. Ruthie Beth Luthart was found in a cistern in Dayton. Mrs. Gilman was the last victim her body being found two weeks ago.

Mrs. Middlefield testified that Carr had killed the girl and that he was indicted in the Ferschentz case.

VISIT IDORA PARK

Record-Breaking Crowd Enjoys Outing, Conway's Band and Actors

Ideal weather and the finest free open air program yet presented, conspired to draw more than 60,000 people to Idora yesterday afternoon and night. The tremendous throng broke all records of attendance. The area made up of people from every quarter of the state, while Oakland, Alameda, Berkeley and the adjacent territory contributed the major portion of the pleasure-seekers. More than 30,000 took advantage of the twenty minute May Route excursion train and came from San Francisco. Of the trans-day passengers were sailors from the battleships now stationed in this vicinity. Indeed to watch two scores of the "jacks" marching, lock-step through the merry crowd bound for soay such part as the scenic railway or the garden grill, one might have imagined that another "feet day" had been declared.

Enjoy Outing

It was a happy throng that went to the land of Idora yesterday. From the tot of three who built houses of sand in the children's playgrounds, to the white-haired dignitaries who sat in the silk set, who sat listening to the interpretations of Patrick Conway's band everybody and everything smacked of happiness. And who could have been at "the park beautiful" yesterday and not found the sweetest infections. Every band contributed to the creation of fun and entertainment. Conway's band played more variety selections, every one of them gems. Every available seat in front of the stadium was taken and standing room was at a premium always. And yet, with the tremendous and continuous audience before the band stand, every concession was held open to caterers and thousands were gathered about the fair acts and the troupe of delightfully foolish clowns.

Of the metal numbers, the act of the La Nole brothers seen on this coast for the first time, was the most popular with the favor. The La Noles are comedians who perform on revolving ladders, near the circle swing. Their work is filled with grotesque situations and feats of daring. They spin round the break-neck ladders like acrobats on wheels creating almost a mad fun as does Todd Louis and his laugh producers in their imitation of a two ring circus.

Outdoor Actors

The act of the La Noles, like that of the Peerless Potters, is one of the big affairs, which it would be out of the question to attempt to show upon a stage. Indeed, they were brought from Europe to New York under contract to one of the big Eastern vaudeville circuits; but their apparatus was too large for theater purposes.

The Peerless Potters will be seen for the last time this week. Not Saturday, their place will be filled by the famous English family, which is now on its way from New York. The others perform what is said to be the greatest "flying" act in the world. They use a number of swinging traps in their work and will be seen in the aerial rigging located near the auto course. All of the acts which formed the regular's splendid program at Idora will be seen at the park throughout the week with daily change of program.

AUTHOR MAY HAVE TO JOIN ARMY

"Jimmy" Hopper Finds French Law Likely to Make Soldier of Him

NEW YORK, April 26.—James Hopper, the California novelist who is here on his way to France, has learned that he is technically a man without a country.

While at heart and by residence he is an American, he may legally be either an Englishman or a Frenchman, which is the case he has not yet been able to decide. If he proves to be a Frenchman by birth, he will have to join the French service law of that country, and as he is to visit France and has never served in the French army, he may be impressed by the authorities there and compelled to don brass buttons.

Born in Paris

Hopper's father was an Irishman who went to France when a young man and married a French woman. The author Hopper was born and spent his boyhood in Paris, and when he was 14 years old, without having renounced his British citizenship, and Mrs. Hopper, who was essentially a Frenchwoman, came this country with him and settled in California. Hopper's mother never was naturalized in this country nor was Hopper born in the United States, but the widow and her son became British citizens, and they could assume likewise to be British subjects. But as both Hopper and his mother were born in France it is argued by some international practitioners whom Hopper consulted, that the French law will construe him a Frenchman and as such a candidate for military service.

Hopper arrived today, however, just before over 10 years old and having left France when a boy, he may fulfill the requirements of the French law by a service of three weeks in the army. It is declared that if he is amenable to military service he will not try to evade it, but will serve his three weeks' enlistment and then write a book about it.

JUDGE R. B. CARPENTER DIES AT AGE OF 84

LOS ANGELES, April 26.—Judge R. B. Carpenter, 84, one of the first circuit court judges in South Carolina, and came to California in 1878, died here Saturday at the age of 84 of paralysis. He was a member of the legal profession in South Carolina from 1891-3, and was prominent in politics for many years. He was born in Vermont and had lived in South Carolina, Kentucky and California. He left three daughters, all residents of this city.

Rose Stahl in 'Chorus Lady' Captures London Audience

ROSE STAHL, the Noted American Actress, Who Has Just Made a Big Hit in London and Been Hailed as a "Genius."

LONDON, April 26.—A play-hardened London first-night audience received Rose Stahl in "The Chorus Lady" at the Vaudeville Theater, with silent curiosity; then burst into hearty, unaffected laughter, occasionally wiped its eyes clear of real moisture, and by the close of the act was noisy in its enthusiasm. From that on to the conclusion of the play Miss Stahl had the house with her.

Even her wonderful slangs seemed to be understood, and provoked peals of laughter. There were uncountable laughs, and then, when the curtain was lifted, to the steady cheering, which did not stop until Miss Stahl made a neat little speech in a broken voice. None of the critics seem to think the play is anything but piffing, but all the critics declare Miss Stahl is a genius.

TAKES DAUGHTER AWAY FROM HER HUSBAND

Chases Elopers Across Continent and Drags Wife Away

CLAIMS BRIDE IS ONLY 16 YEARS OF AGE

"We've Caught You at Last," Is Mother's Greeting to Child

PHILADELPHIA, April 26.—After following the couple across the continent, with exciting chases in various cities, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond T. Danders of Los Angeles yesterday confronted their daughter, Isabelle Danders Nesley, as she was standing by the side of her husband, J. Muason Nesley, as he was racing to the Belvoir Stratford. "We've caught you at last," said the mother.

"Daughter, you must come home at once," said Danders. According to the father, the bride, who was married in Denver, is only 16 years old, and was persuaded to leave home and be married by Nesley, who is an artist.

Not Considered Proper

"Mrs. Nesley was not considered by myself and my wife as the proper husband for our daughter," said Danders.

He is a banker. "We refused to allow Isabelle to receive him at our home."

Friday, March 26, my daughter left the house, saying she was going to a church entertainment. That was the last we saw of her until this afternoon. From what I heard in Los Angeles, Nesley has the paints and sketches, but does not say any of his pictures, not her a square from our home. Then they went to Denver.

Wants Divorce

"I will do everything I can to persuade my daughter to get a divorce from the artist on the ground that she was too young to realize what she was doing."

Mr. and Mrs. Danders and their daughter will take legal action against the banker if the couple do not give her freedom. Nesley ate his dinner at the Hotel St. James a short distance away. He will return to Los Angeles at once.

Danders said he believed he would go to Europe with his wife and daughter hoping that by having Mrs. Nesley there he would be cured of her infatuation for the artist.

SUIT OVER $8.50 CALF COSTS COUNTY $2000

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., April 26.—A suit over a calf worth about $8.50, has cost the taxayers of Klamath county over $2000, and the expense promises to reach $5000 before the case is disposed of. J. J. Arant was tried at the June term of court on charges of malpractice and the jury disagreed. The second trial will be held on April 27, when the same jury is expected to find for the plaintiff. The suit was filed through the fall of Adam. As a result of the founding of the Church we are no longer creeping creatures but once again able to partake of the divinity with which we were originally endowed. For man is but little lower than the angels.

"The sacrament of the confirmation we are now taught to believe is not only a confirmation means to salvation, by receiving the sacrament of confirmation we are strengthened to meet the duties which lie before. After the sacrament of confirmation comes the sacrament of marriage. This is designed for the perpetuation of the human race. Then comes the sacrament of Holy Orders and finally the sacrament of ex-

"Men Pieces of God"

"We have been called the children of God. We are in reality pieces of God.

For this reason the heart is always seeking for closer union with the divinity. We are destined for a higher home and the feelings of the heart indicate that it is supernatural to us. Those wise children, scholars, philosophers and scientists who write books, but without the light of faith, know not whether they are drifting. They do not know what their destiny is. With all their wisdom they cannot see as far as the light of faith will penetrate. They do not rely upon that which is supernatural. In man it is consequently that which is obscure. They tell you that man should not according to nature. There are two natures in a man's composition, the soul and the body. The multitude live the life of the body. To them life is but to eat, drink, be merry and die. They do not live for the soul. But faith is the complement of the soul. It is the supernatural. In the sacrament of the confirmation we are brought closer to the divine, and faith will guide us further into the divine blue of the heavens than mere intellect can ever hope to go. The meaning of all of the ceremonies of this morning is that we shall be enabled to live the ideal life. The ideal life is composed of faith, love of God and reason. Faith is the light that will enable us to live the only ideal life—the life Christ led."

PRELATE ADMINISTERS CONFIRMATION VOWS TO TWO HUNDRED CHILDREN

Bishop O'Connell, on Occasion of First Appearance in Oakland, Is Greeted by Devout Throng.

Nearly two hundred children took their first vows to the Catholic church yesterday at St. Anthony's Parish in East Oakland, being confirmed by Bishop Dennis J. O'Connell. This is one of the largest classes ever assembled in any of the church schools. The ceremonies were conducted in the church, but the confirmation without a single mistake on the part of the eager young worshippers. In all there were eighty-eight young clerks confirmed and ninety-two boys. Bishop O'Connell was so impressed with the evident training of the lads class that he took occasion not only to praise the children for their efficiency but also to compliment the pastor.

The confirmation services marked the first appearance of the distinguished prelate in this city. Many hundreds of worshippers attended the mass immediately preceding the confirmation, and so great was the desire of the parishioners to see and hear the bishop that many were unable to secure admittance. Father Casey, pastor of St. Peter's parish in San Francisco, was the celebrant of the mass which preceded the confirmation.
